

Examples for different available Elements and Stylings

Text Variations

This is a sentence with a link. You can write bold text or italic text. And you can write more and more and more and more...

Do you like the color red? Or do you want to underline something? You can also overline something or line-through ~~something~~

This is a paragraph with 1cm space before. Can you see it? And a start indent with 1.5 cm too. It's all so beautiful!

So let's have a paragraph with a little space after... And an end indent to. I don't really like end indents. But it's ok here

Lists

1. This is hopefully the first item
2. And this is the second item with a lot of text. To be perfectly honest, nonsense text. But a line break is not impossible
  - This is the first item of a nested list
  - And this is the second item with a lot of text. Have a look: This list is unordered<sup>1</sup>

First Key This is the definition of the first key and have you recognized, that this is a definition list?

Second Key This is the definition for the second key

Product	Preis
This is a row	This is a row
This is a row	Test

beautiful!

This is a footnote text